Third Sunday of Lent

Jesus and the Money Lenders in the Temple Jn 2:13-25

Today's provocative gesture of Jesus within the Temple was probably not really a big deal. He ran over a group of dove sellers, overturned the tables of some money changers and tried to disrupt the activity for a few moments.

But it was a prophetic gesture that triggered his arrest and swift execution. To attack the Temple was to attack the centre of the Jew's religious, social and political life.

The temple was a "market place" a "business" while in the villages the misery of the children was growing. No. God could legitimise such a religion.

Our catholic faith is supposed to increase our compassion for those who suffer and build a more humane world and not feed our interests or comforts.

Fa'anānā Efeso Collins R.I.P.

"Please pray for the soul of Efeso Collins".

We give thanks for Efeso's ministry in our church and his mahi in the world. Please join me in praying for his family and all those who are struggling with this sad news. Rest in peace Efeso." Bishop Steve Lowe

Brought up a Pentecostal Christian, Fa'anana later converted to Catholicism. His life was celebrated at Due Drop Events Centre in Manukau on Thursday last.

A man for justice

Lorraine Elliott Vicar for Social Impact and Communications saw Efeso as a man of strong faith.

He was the first to 'put his hand up, volunteer and support' the J.P. Commission Electoral Forum last September.

The Forum was hosted by Caritas Aotearoa and facilitated by St Anne's Manurewa parishioners and young Justice and Peace Commission 'Social Welfare and Antipoverty Committee' participants.

We will miss Efeso for his enthusiasm, humour, wit, deep faith, spirit of justice and readiness to muck in and get the job done, the Commission statement says.

"His inspiration for life and justice will be sadly and sorely missed."

Week 3: Education and Encounter - VOCATIONAL AND RURAL TRAINING CENTRES, SOLOMON ISLANDS

Caritas in partnership with the "Solomon Islands Association of Vocational and Rural Training Centres" (SIAVRTC), oversees more than 70 rural training programs spread out across the Solomon Islands.

Training is offered in agricultural, carpentry, mechanical, financial literacy, sewing, leadership, and life skills. This empowers in remote areas, equipping local people – especially the youth – with essential skills for a brighter future.

Nga Mihi Nui,
Fr Tony O'Connor SM.
Parish Priest.
